mundu spoke to the now satisfied and silent bathers in rasip... my mind is usually a pretty rational one and it took me quite some time untill i was ready to leave monospecies state of being behind me... as i now have seen in great detail what a sort of gentle existance is possible while visiting noharmfullofharmonies land in a 4 days and nights long dream induced or enabled by psylocibin mushrooms native of awahi as i have seen that what i wish for myself and fellow beings who like peace and love in light... is possible to live in real i ty and in some degree mater i a l cirumstances, i was looking for an underlying principle what could make it easier for future becoming multispecies experimenters

nurturing what got donated cultivating ones genetic possibilities with training after ones taste sharing the genes with anyone interested to grow in a wholesome way at this point of his narration, minai and luemi started to speak too towards the rasip bathing community who was enjoying this enormously and were listening with great attention luemi... i believe that the active wish applied to the moment is one strong drive what helps to cherishing all the input what can be used as tool as a ruder, oaf ? as wings and legs in the plant aided dreams but eventually also in a sober mood minai... with that being a nearly impossible task as even the absence of eating drinking smoking or to abstain from sexual activity alone or with others... it all has great influence on the state of mind, the emotions and the chemistry of ones body sober could eventually be found in a state when no paining memories of hunger or lack or despair, when all the past hurtings are stored in a safe place inside where one can allways go to have a study or also could be let alone there for decades that could be sober as it would create an opportunity for the experimenter to consume from now on only that what is needed for actual movements thinking ... no more compensation needed once the past is archived well enough... luemi... of course this state of no more compensation consumption is being enabled also trough gratitude and choices in each moment, how can i with whom have a good time... with it not mattering if it is hiking together or licking each others genitalias ... if it is discussing ethics or doing a dance together... minai... important seems to be that all here and now have benevolent looks onto each other, no concurrence or competition or first, second, best...

mundu .... i have been so blessed with these two marvelous ladies who are such earth wise priestess of the grand eternal lady of the cosmic female...

luemi and minai speaking the words together... we still would like to have babies from you...

with mundu laughing at them with much affection in his eyes.... you shall get them my companions, i promise now the audience in rasip were kind of waking up feom their trance state where they felt in total agreement of this experienced philosophies mundu leumi and minai were lulling them into... it felt like laying on a sandy beach with someone pouring constantly smoothly sand on all of ones body untill one felt well held and protected trough mother earth shielding to the hot sunrays...

some asked in a unsure voice... why would you minai would want a baby with mundu, do you not believe in our research will lead us to long lives and possibly indefinite lifespans.... she answered, yes i believe we will reach that state if we want it but why i want a baby with mundu ... i love him, have found his being to be complimentaery to me ... and i would like to allow an other soul to visit planet earth or to continue its journey from an other lifetime here luemi... i want to see and feel how nature brings us two mundu and me together in her own growing... i want to become one with another soul from the physical inside, paying forward how i got nurtured and loved by my mother... how beautifull this mechanism is, mundu can lay he seed deep inside me once we have rubbed our fullbloodied swellings hot and burning of lust, causing our channels to open.... his semen will leave its cave of testicules to travel along the hard penis muscles into the vulva and towards the egg what has been readied in its gebaermutter nest once the seed arrives the unification embrace of semen and egg starts the women sharing all of her life now to feed the newly arrived soul at this moment of befruchtung eventually the soul comes later into the embryo but that i could not actually want to believe or.... i do not know how to think about abortion, i wish our global human society would be in such a state that every soul who decided to be born in an animal plant or and human form would be cheered on by everyone else allready grown up to some part of sentience .... i wish all the abundance of earth and sun would be shared between all who have needs... in such a society, no abortion would be wanted by any mother minai... everyone would congratulate her for having decided to sacrifice her own body to allow giving an other soul entry to planet earth travel... everyone would be interested to give its best in support of the wellbeing of mother and baby... mundu... well, you have very convincing views, and i do see the positive benefits of having babies in a society of longliving multispecies evolving ones... but it also creates a certain commitment between the three of us, or how do you think will we secure the children growing up in a safe environment ... minai... i would believe that not only our love as three and then five will be strong, but also we have the support from your research group with whom we are now also part of as i understand it after us having donated cell materials what are enhanced.... luemi... she is right, we have done also our share towards the research, do you agree mundu ?

when he said, yes, certainly, i was not doubting that, i am sorry i have not confirmed that with the group... luoma over there in rasip and ascende perma in nacary islands, that should be okay yes, minai and luemi being full members of the research team ? ascende and perma, having watched some parts of this special event were very happy with the group growing and surely saw how luemi and minai have helped mundu to evolve beyond being fixed on rational thinking.... of course my dears, and we would like to invite the children too to become full members of the research with no duty but all privileges... involving to use all the housing properties of the group as it was possible to use them regarding available free space... perma said ascende sent an invitation to all actual group members to vote on a) minai and luemi being full members

b) their babies to be full members
c) to set aside one million money per newborn child as a guarantee for the childs survival the invitation went out to ascende, perma, mundu, luoma, nilai, nandofer, ava, rumu, mirael, mansulei, luoi their bank accounts had now around 20 millions on it from many thousands of small and bigger donations each month the 150 regular visitors brought 10 000 to the appartement their places were now worth around 1.5 millions so there was a good situation with all of the grouos member voting yes to all three questions.... this friend group member exchange happened in the middle of th firehuman procession with many of the guests being not surprised but highly happy on this transparency some others were a bit sad as their thoughts being guided to such worldly affairs of financial securities and who was entitled to benefit from them one visitor asked respectfully... ascende and perma... may we have a procession one with your actual gene richness soon ? we heard of you going bananas and coconutty for minutes in flesh and peel... with everyone laughing heartily and the two assuring that they will come to rasip in the next weeks, one reason being that they too wanted to bath in the pool when nilai would be able to send her butterflyness urine and other cell samples sometimes soon nandofer and ava were sending samples to mansulei and mirael every time mundu sent them in, with daily samples of poolwater

... when it became more practical to analyze via microscopic observation the samples in rasip... joho did buy some lab space in rasip to ensure no vitality of samples would go lost... hundreds of fans of the friends research as well as the commercial android prototyping were applying to work in the rasip labs
with mansulei staying in paolosa to overview the smooth and respectfull processing of nilai s contributions the microscopic vision they had seen looking at the rasip pool water showed many multispecies multicellular living beings somehow magicly evolutioned and continuing to evolve in the pool water joho proposed that before the final phase of the prototyping, kind of as an ultimate merge... all of the friends researchers group could bath toghether so it came, that once nilai had received the blessing of the butterly tribe and she could morph her arms and legs into butterfly wings of any shape she wished.... that they all met in the rasip appartement around day 195 of the prototyping... 5 days later the samples were collected and used as the master track to grow hundred thousands of androids joho was so happy when he heard about the high quality of the master cells, having photosynthesis, bat and butterfly wing building capabilities, some fruit flesh and peel moments, fireglow from within, the software artificially intelligent being able to visualize sensual input via nerves as coloured light streams, wish lead creation of inner drawings imaginations.... he never bathed in the rasip pool and still he was looking forward to have one or many companions who had all this wonderfull features what would allow him to study the transformation via the androids as the project became more and more successfull beyond expectation he became less interested in the money the project would generate but felt more and more compassionate about the planet ... he was sure that this invention or evolution would change the course humanity had taken plundering the earth... he could see before his inner eyes his rich friends becoming childlike or adolescentish again with their android companions, learning the ways of joy and laughter, ligth and flowery scenting delights of sweet harmonies.... he saw them joining in the love movement, building more and more androids to donate them to all citizens on this planet, relieving them of their work burden some nine and a half months later minai and leumi were giving birth to a girl they named nzeli and a boy, merlam... in the rasip pool mundu was leaving the awahi islands about 4 months after the firehuman presentation procession upgrade ceremony, with minai and luemi joining him they were excited to live in the rasip place where all the friends group research enabled dozends of people to heal in the pool and upgrade their state of evolution mundu leumi and minai were building strong family bonds in advent to the new souls, they liked to be near each other many hours a day, doing their own microscopic observation studies of their own cells and pool materials, reading, writing body movements, breathing.... at the time the children were expected to leave their mothers womb, the three of them were confident that the birth would be a wonderfull experience especially as there was a midwife coming once as a visitor to the rasip pool who told them about orgiastic birth techniques ... what would allow a woman to enjoy similar pleasure at letting her child leave her vagina as at the moment when a man penetrated her with his penis it was like that... mundu minai and luemi swimming a bit here and there, mundu massaging them here and there ... they daydreaming of them being a family of five swimming in the ocean waters of awahi

... untill one after the other placenta broke the water and the women could let go of their fruit the placentas after being also expulsed from the mothers bellies, were being studied by the pool intelligence carefully, and many of the loosly interacting cell collectives and anarchisticly cooperating cell complexes were finding the placentas to be ideal hosts for their further cultivating and evolution aspirations.... mirael and mansulei now being free again as the commercial android first batch sold well and the group got this plan of producing 200 000 androids to distribute for free with the 50 millions joho had donated them in his thankfull state after having seen the ready to massproduce final prototype via hundreds of live cameras swimming in the pool and attached at the side of it, some of them microscopic, they as well as mundu did study the new behaviour of the cell islands to anchor at the placentas...

mirael came over to the rasip appartement regularily to bath in the pool and enjoy the allways gay and happy energies flowing here he went near to one of the placenta what got metsmorphed very quickly, her flesh now changing colours sometimes frequrntly sometimes staying the same for a while, when he touched it, he felt it to slowly gently suck up to his hand, and he trusted it so he gave his hand and one whole arm in it, while laying still... it felt like being caressed and kissed and hugged all around the arm.... and he would not want it to stop... when the evolved placenta let him. go or slipped away from him his one arm felt like it could be all of what he wanted it to be ... a wing,, a fin, a tentakel... it felt like he possibly could form any shape and texture material with it... as he was undecisive on what shape he personally would like to enjoy... him being scientist trying to stay detached ... altough he did not see it happening he knew that this placentas became an intelligent being what could greatly help humans becoming all they wanted to be like in flesh and bones somehow there happened a big evolution leap here without us having it noticed so far leumi and minai as well as mansulei mundu and the rest of the group were mostly happy with these placentas gone super ... it may sound creepy or horror like, luoi said into her camera of the smartphone she used in her nocgo bassin place where she now successfully trained to be treelike and bushes like... she was both happy being a bush tree as well as occasionally changing back to mostly human form for her collaboration study sessions with the paolosa and rasip places.... but only when you read or hear it... when you see how the placentas have been changed and their hull being allive with multiple species mixed with no cuts and forcings, it all happening in the cells wanting to grow into each other... when one sees videos of the placentas being approached by a bathing person who then allows it to snuggle and cuddle embrace all the persons body... you see the persons happy relaxation for minutes without any mistake... and when the superplacenta leaves.... a dolphin or a unicorn, a fairy or a lion or a mix of all that... lies there where minutes before lay a human person... then most every witness will find him/herself being blessed to have seen a miracle of the mater i a
